

Hi Pastor Quinn!

Sorry for not responding straight away, it has been a very busy time for me. I am very happy to share the news of how the Lord really blessed our trip to Siegen Bible College. We just arrived last night at one o'clock and it was a blessing from the start. We got to meet so many students and were so encouraged that we hardly can contain it. Sofia met a number of her girlfriends and two of them really desiring to come to Sweden for outreach and even staying for a longer time. Mike met a teacher at the Bible collage by the name of Keeth and he said he would pray about coming here for outreach as well. I met a few guys as well, one named Ben and another named Janosch. They said they would consider coming here. At the same time we had a guy named Simion that is planning to take a team up to Stockholm and another place in Sweden. We knew this before but were able to get more connected to pray and plan this mission's trip. We truly feel that the Lords blessing was resting on our trip to Germany. Pastor David and Inga-Lill pass on their greetings. They took such good care of us. We just marvelled; it was neat. It's going to be exciting to see what the Lord will do over the next couple of month here. My desire is to form a team that burns for the same thing. We want to be and do all that God wants us to do and to really conquer every bit of land that God has given to us. Please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will form, build and unite a team that can last for a long time.

Here we have Sammy, Ben, Mike and Sofia and Me. Sammy you met when you were here. Ben is a teacher and Pastor at the Bible college. Sofia and Mike I live with.

Here we are about to enjoy a typical German dinner. On the left we have Alexandra, who is coming to Sweden for outreach; Simion that leads the outreach; Keeth that is a teacher at the bible college (praying about coming) Mike, Sofia and Sammy.

Sofia and Inga-Lill talking.

Here is Sammy and Mike just before we left to eat dinner in our home.

I guess you recognize this person.
